Dear Sirs:

I am writing to express my opposition to the FDIC get Federal approval to enter into Banking. WalMart in the banking industry would be an extremely unfair advantage to them

The would effectively have over 3,000 branch offices almost immediately have have what amounts to a "captive" consumer base because many of the people that frequent them would take the easy way out and have one stop shopping that would include banking.

Walmart has consistently proven in the past that they are not above ripping consumers off and this would only give them another opportunity to do so.
