

From: mikedog - [mailto:mikedog@yahoo.com]
Sent: Saturday, April 04, 2009 6:06 AM
To: LLCComments
Subject: Legacy Loans Program

suggested rule:

Any institutional investor/bond holder cannot have any investment exposure - direct or indirect - prior to the purchase of assets in any particular institution. Furthermore, institutional investors/bondholders should not be allowed to have any direct or indirect investment exposure to the particular institution in which they purchased assets for one year AFTER all assets in that institution have been sold, otherwise there is a direct conflict of interest in their participation.

Conflicts of interest will be almost impossible to police as noted in this short video clip. How can consumers have any confidence that authorities would be able to police the kind of activity suggested in the video below when they can't even identify a simple fraudulent ponzi scheme such as the Madoff ponzi scheme even after being pointed directly to it.

The Geithner plan:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n-arbfLTctI>