CALL FOR PAPERS

The FDIC's Center for Financial Research and the JFSR invite submissions for the 19th Annual Bank Research Conference to be held in Arlington, Virginia on Friday, September 13, and Saturday, September 14, 2019.

The program committee invites theoretical and empirical papers on issues related to the performance and regulation of the financial sector including, but not limited to, the following:

- Deposit insurance
- Governance and compensation practices in the financial sector
- Trends in financial products, services, and technology
- Systemic risk and financial system resilience
- Financial sector performance
- Risk measurement
- Regulatory capital and liquidity requirements
- Trends in industry competition, market structure, and bank scope economies
- Interaction between regulation and the cost and availability of credit
- Fintech

Papers will be selected for presentation based on reviews by FDIC economists, associate editors of the JFSR, and the organizing committee (Rosalind Bennett, Manju Puri, and Haluk Unal).

Selected papers may be invited for submission to the JFSR for a special conference issue.

Expenses for travel, food, and lodging will be reimbursed for paper presenters. Papers must be received by May 1, 2019. Authors will be notified about the status of their papers in July 2019.
