

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

WASHINGTON, D.C.

In the Matter of:

REPUBLIC BANK & TRUST COMPANY)	NOTICE OF CHARGES FOR AN
LOUISVILLE, KY)	ORDER TO CEASE AND DESIST
(INSURED STATE NONMEMBER)	AND NOTICE OF HEARING
BANK))	FDIC-10-079b

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC"), having reasonable cause to believe that Republic Bank & Trust Company, Louisville, Kentucky ("Bank"), is engaging in unsafe or unsound banking practices with respect to its Refund Anticipation Loan ("RAL") program and, unless restrained, will continue to engage in such practices and violations in conducting the business of the Bank, hereby institutes this proceeding for the purpose of determining whether an appropriate order should be issued against the Bank under the provisions of section 8(b)(1) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act ("Act"), 12 U.S.C. § 1818(b)(1). The FDIC hereby issues this NOTICE OF CHARGES FOR AN ORDER TO CEASE AND DESIST AND NOTICE OF HEARING ("Notice"), pursuant to the provisions of the Act and the FDIC Rules of Practice and Procedure, 12 C.F.R. Part 308:

1. The Bank is a corporation existing and doing business under the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and has its principal place of business at Louisville, Kentucky.
2. At all times pertinent to this proceeding, the Bank is and has been a State nonmember bank within the meaning of section 3(e)(2) of the Act, 12 U.S.C. § 1813(e)(2), an insured depository institution within the meaning of section 3(c)(2) of the Act, 12 U.S.C. § 1813(c)(2), and is subject to the Act, 12 U.S.C. §§ 1811-1831aa, the Rules and Regulations of the FDIC, 12 C.F.R. Chapter III, and the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

3. The FDIC has jurisdiction over the Bank and the subject matter of this proceeding.

Refund Anticipation Loan Program

Unsafe or Unsound Underwriting Practices

4. A major business line of the Bank is the origination of short term loans to consumers that are, in substance, secured by the consumers' anticipated income tax refund, Refund Anticipation Loans ("RAL").

5. During the 2010 tax season the Bank made approximately 836,835 RAL loans totaling over $3,011,606,947, roughly equal to the average assets of the Bank.

6. The Bank's primary, if not sole, source of repayment for RAL loans is the borrower's tax refund.

7. One reason the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") will deny a taxpayers refund is a debt owed to the IRS or certain others.

8. During previous tax seasons it was possible to obtain from the IRS information concerning a taxpayer's obligations to the IRS or certain others which might preclude payment of a tax refund, commonly known as the "debt indicator" ("DI").

9. The DI was a vital underwriting tool that allowed the Bank to determine with a reasonable degree of certainty whether a taxpayer will actually receive a refund.

10. In August of 2010 the IRS announced that it would no longer provide the DI to third parties including the Bank. The DI provided notification of the IRS's intention to offset a refund for debts, including federally insured loans, delinquent child support and federal and state tax liens. If there is no lien on the refund, the probability of the borrower repaying the loan is considerably higher for an RAL. Thus, the DI was previously a key underwriting tool for the RAL portfolio.

11. Without the DI, the risk of loss increases and a robust underwriting risk mitigation process becomes essential. A bank that cannot use a debt indicator for an RAL must instead underwrite the loans and assess these risks using a retail credit model similar to that used to determine probability of default in small unsecured consumer loans, using such factors as income level, employment, credit score, credit line utilization levels, and payment pattern on certain recurring bills.

12. Republic's underwriting procedures did not mitigate the absence of the DI and do not consider data needed to assess risk in an unsecured consumer loan portfolio. The Bank currently uses a deficient credit underwriting process that may not have current tax liens and may not appropriately address the variety of variables necessary to establish default and loss probabilities during the 2011 tax season.

13. Operating the RAL program without sufficient underwriting or the benefit of the DI is an unsafe or unsound practice, and subjects the Bank to abnormal risk of loss.
