The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC"), having fully considered all the facts and information relating to the application ("Application") filed pursuant to Section 19 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act ("Section 19"), 12 U.S.C. § 1829, by Donald Patrick Crane ("Applicant"), individually, for a waiver of the FDIC policy requirement that an insured depository institution file a Section 19 application on his behalf, has determined that Applicant's request for a waiver should not be granted based on the following:

- (1) On June 15, 1992, Applicant pled guilty to the crime of conspiracy to submit a false residential loan application to a federally insured institution involving the sale of his personal residence pursuant to 18 U.S.C. Sections 2 and 371, and agreed to pay full restitution, which was $90,000.

- (2) On September 10, 1992, the U.S. District Court sentenced Applicant to serve six months home confinement and three years probation, and further required him to pay a fine of $5,000 and a special assessment of $50, and to perform 300 hours of community service.

Based on the above, the FDIC has determined that Applicant has not demonstrated substantial good cause to support a waiver of the sponsoring institution requirement. The FDIC has further determined that the FDIC policy requirement that an insured depository institution file a section 19 application on the Applicant's behalf should not be waived.

ORDER

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, that the application of Donald Patrick Crane, as an individual, for a waiver of the requirement that an insured depository institution file a section 19 application on his behalf, is DENIED.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 25th day of August, 2011.
