

2016 FDIC Accounting and Auditing Conference
Keynote Address - Interagency Collaboration in Today's Regulatory Perspective
Presented by Thomas J. Curry
October 25, 2016

Comptroller of the Currency Thomas J. Curry will share his unique perspective on today's regulatory environment, shaped by over 30 years regulating financial institutions of all shapes and sizes, at the state and federal levels. His remarks will describe how interagency collaboration is key to succeeding in the rapidly changing environment, how it supports early recognition of risks, and how it promotes consistency across the financial services industry.

❖ What are the challenges and complexities of today's regulatory environment?

❖ How do regulatory jurisdictions overlap and why is collaboration essential to success?

❖ At what organizational levels does collaboration exist and why is it important at all levels?
