ABOUT THIS PUBLICATION

Economic Inclusion and Opportunity

Mortgage lending is an important element of many community banks' business strategies. Community banks offer mortgage products and services designed to meet the particular needs of their communities, including rural and low- and moderate-income (LMI) areas. Offering affordable mortgage loans to a wide range of customers deepens bank-customer relationships and provides an important pathway for borrowers to own their own homes and build wealth. At the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), we recognize that mortgage lending is also an important way for insured institutions to promote access and participation in the mainstream banking system. Broad participation in the products and services offered by insured institutions promotes stability and confidence in the financial system, which is the core mission of the FDIC.

Many banks, including community banks, take advantage of the opportunities to serve the particular mortgage credit needs of their communities. The Affordable Mortgage Lending Guide (Guide) provides information to help make community bankers aware of the wide range of current affordable mortgage products. It is a series of three publications: Part I: Federal Agencies and Government Sponsored Enterprises; Part II: State Housing Finance Agencies; and Part III: Federal Home Loan Banks (forthcoming). Bank management should understand the terms of these programs, the risks they pose, and the impact on banks' financial condition to ensure that they are serving their communities with prudently underwritten and affordable mortgage products. These programs are important resources for community banks when properly managed.

Outreach and Communication

To determine how the FDIC could contribute to efforts by banks to offer prudently underwritten, affordable, and responsible mortgage credit for LMI households, FDIC staff met with community banks individually and in small roundtables. Bankers provided valuable insights into the need for affordable mortgage credit in the communities they serve. They also discussed the opportunities and obstacles to using various lending programs, as well as the pros and cons of holding loans in portfolio versus selling loans on the secondary market.

Some bankers described how they have harnessed federal programs, sometimes in combination with other financial mechanisms like Federal Home Loan Bank and State Housing Finance Agency products, to expand their capabilities and serve a broader customer base. Many banks had relationships with neighborhood housing counseling organizations, which helped provide financial education to potential customers.

Some bankers noted that very small banks do not have specialized staffing or departments to offer complex mortgage products. They decided that the risk and cost of origination was not worth taking without more resources or additional risk mitigation. Some bankers said that while they want to be involved in mortgage lending, it was difficult to find the time to research potential products and programs, and that it was challenging to find and retain trained mortgage staff, especially in rural areas.

From these meetings, we concluded that community banks might benefit from a practical reference tool to compare affordable housing products and programs so they could make an informed decision about which products might be the right fit for their business plans and strategies to improve lending options available for their communities. In addition, the experience of other lenders who have found ways to use limited resources to harness federal, state, and other resources could provide practical examples that may be instructive to institutions considering these opportunities.

Scope and Coverage

The Affordable Mortgage Lending Guide, Part II: State Housing Finance Agencies, describes programs offered by State Housing Finance Agencies across the country. This part of the Guide focuses on first-lien mortgage products, down payment and closing assistance, mortgage tax credit certificates, and homeownership education and counseling programs that can facilitate mortgage lending by insured depository institutions. Many of these products can be used in conjunction with other federal and government-sponsored enterprise programs,<sup>1</sup> as well as Federal Home Loan Bank products.<sup>2</sup>

In the main body of this Guide, we provide an overview of the types of products that State Housing Finance Agencies offer. Since each State Housing Finance Agency has different products, we provide a state-by-state overview of the products available and how to access them in Appendix A.

Suggestions for How to Use This Guide

This Guide is a one-stop resource for institutions to gain an overview of a wide variety of product resources, to compare different products, and to identify the next steps for participation. Both the main report and the appendix are organized primarily by products offered by State Housing Finance Agencies.

Each overview in the main body of the report includes insights into the product's or program's purpose, technical assistance on how to participate, and identifies potential benefits and challenges for community banks.

Material for specific states contained in Appendix A includes the types of products offered, targeted populations, as well as loan delivery and servicing options. A quick review of the criteria will help you identify whether the product is suitable for a particular client or a population that you are trying to serve, such as low- and moderate-income borrowers or other hard-to-reach populations.

TIPS ON USING THE AFFORDABLE MORTGAGE LENDING GUIDE

- Review the contents page for a list of the products offered by State Housing Finance Agencies.
- Review the overviews of each product of interest to determine different options and other criteria.
- Review the state-by-state overview for your state to determine which products are offered.
- Select a product that best suits your needs and use the State Housing Finance Agency contact information to get started.

Each state overview also includes contact information and web links for easy access to program staff that can provide additional information about the product, guide you through getting started, and address other specific requirements for starting product use at your bank.

Because products and criteria are subject to change, the Guide provides the most recent information available. To meet the need for accurate and timely information, each state overview includes a list of web links where updates can be found.

Banker Conversations

In addition to the individual meetings with community banks and small roundtable discussions, the FDIC also spoke with community bankers about their participation in particular State Housing Finance Agency programs to gather their feedback. These conversations are summarized in the relevant sections of this Guide to illustrate how bankers are using these programs to meet their business objectives in “a community banker conversation.”

Supporting strong Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) performance

Affordable mortgage lending activities, including to low- and moderate-income borrowers; to low- and moderate-income census tracts; and to serve people in underserved rural communities, on tribal lands, and in disaster areas can be responsive ways for financial institutions to meet the credit needs of their communities. The mortgage products and programs featured in this Guide, whether they result in Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMDA) reportable loans or originations reported by another lender, can help lenders reach their business objectives in their communities, as well as contribute to their CRA performance.

Conclusion

In many parts of the country, community banks play an important role in meeting the demand for mortgage credit. The products and programs outlined in the Affordable Mortgage Lending Guide can provide community bankers with additional pathways to provide homeownership opportunities for creditworthy borrowers in their communities, particularly those with affordability challenges. These products may also represent business opportunities for community banks looking for prudent, sustainable financial products to incorporate into their mortgage business line.

While homeownership continues to be a goal for most Americans, many people struggle to gain access to affordable homeownership opportunities that will enable them to build a stable future for their families. Community banks can and do play a valuable role in meeting the needs for affordable mortgage credit, and we hope this Guide provides useful information to assist bankers in considering all the options to serve their communities with prudently underwritten and affordable mortgage products.

Products Offered by State Housing Finance Agencies

OVERVIEW

State Housing Finance Agencies (HFAs) are state-chartered, nonprofit organizations that provide financing and services for affordable housing and related community development activities. Most are quasi-governmental entities that operate as financially independent organizations and are governed by a state-appointed board of directors. HFAs generally have the mission to provide funding to increase and sustain affordable rental options and homeownership opportunities, most often targeted toward low- and moderate-income renters and homebuyers, and/or special populations such as first-time homebuyers, active military and veterans, police and teachers, individuals with disabilities, and homeless individuals. HFAs operate in every state, as well as the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

Homeownership Programs

HFA homeownership programs vary by state, but all are aimed at promoting homeownership and increasing mortgage affordability for first-time homebuyers and low- and moderate-income households. These programs include low interest-rate, low down payment mortgage products, as well as down payment and closing cost assistance (distributed by the HFAs as well as local municipal and nonprofit organizations with whom they work), and mortgage tax credit certificates, which are dollar-for-dollar federal tax credits in connection with home loans.

Other HFA homeownership programs are designed to help sustain homeownership by lowering homeownership costs and increasing the livability of homes for low- and moderate-income homeowners. These include refinance products, home repair and rehabilitation programs, and programs designed to increase the energy efficiency of homes. Some HFAs offer an Individual Development Account (IDA), which is a matched-savings program or other saving programs to prospective borrowers to help them save for down payment and closing costs. Many HFAs also offer homebuyer education and foreclosure prevention counseling either directly, or by providing sponsorship and training opportunities for housing educators and counselors in their states. Some HFAs offer private mortgage insurance options for first-lien mortgage loans.

Other Programs

HFAs also work to increase the supply of affordable rental units in their states by working with developers that build or rehabilitate housing for rent to low- and moderate-income families. Rental programs include below market financing options for developers and/or subsidy funds allocated directly to projects. Housing tax credits allow developers to raise private equity by selling federal tax credits to investors. Some HFAs offer lending and subsidy funding for other community development activities, such as small business lending to underserved businesses in the state. In this Guide, we focus on single-family mortgage-related HFA programs.

Sources of Funds

HFA programs are funded primarily through three funding sources: tax exempt bonds, The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development HOME Investment Partnerships Program, and Low-Income Housing Tax Credits. However, decisions about which programs are offered and at what funding amount are made at the state level.

HFA Bonds are generally Private Activity Bonds (PABs), which are bonds used to attract private investment for projects that have some public benefit. Each state's allowance for PABs is capped using a federal formula based on state population. States often designate some portion of their PABs as Housing Bonds. As separate financial entities, HFAs issue the Housing Bonds directly, with no financial liabilities tied to the states. Depending on the purpose for the revenue that is raised, the bonds are known as Mortgage Revenue Bonds (MRBs) or Multifamily Housing Bonds. HFAs use Housing Bonds to fund first-lien mortgage programs and mortgage tax credit certificate programs. In recent years, the low interest rate environment has limited the value of the tax advantage of MRBs to purchasers causing HFAs to seek alternative sources of funding, including an expansion of their secondary market activity.

The second source of funding is the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Federal HOME Investment Partnerships program, which is a federal block grant designed to meet each state's diverse affordable housing needs from rental assistance to homeownership down payment assistance.

The final source of funding comes through Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) funds, which are used to finance the development and preservation of affordable rental units and are allocated to the state, which then awards the credits to project sponsors/developers for affordable rental housing projects for low-income households.

Guide Coverage

Each HFA creates and offers its own set of homeownership programs uniquely designed to meet the needs of its state. Therefore, not all programs discussed in this Guide are offered by all HFAs. However, HFA programs usually share many of the same requirements and characteristics. For this reason, this publication focuses on providing an understanding of the types of state programs with an overview of the key elements found in many HFA programs. The Guide also provides a quick overview of HFA programs in the State Housing Finance Agency Products matrix, and finally, it provides individual program summaries and contact information by state in Appendix A.

A bank representative from the east coast said that her bank looks to its State Housing Finance Agency (HFA) as its first choice to sell loans to low- and moderate-income borrowers into the secondary market. "They have really good pricing. The loan level price adjustments on credit scores are advantageous to our borrowers. And they have good benefits when it comes to mortgage insurance pricing and loans with no mortgage insurance."

A banker from the south central part of the country said that she consistently uses the first mortgage products offered by her HFA. "I have been processing or originating HFA loans for as long as I have been originating loans. It's always been a program that has really helped my state's homebuyers."

The banker said that her bank delivers loans to the HFA as a direct lender so they are able to underwrite and approve loans on behalf of the HFA. The banker said that although an HFA product combined with a FHA loan might carry a slightly higher interest rate than if the loan product originated for another investor, there are other significant advantages. The banker explained that the down payment and closing cost loan that can be combined with the HFA/FHA loan is worth the additional cost in rate because, in most cases, the borrower would otherwise be unable to purchase the home.

Because HFAs are state agencies, each with its own set of products and programs, bank experiences vary. For example, a banker on the west coast suggested that, while she would like to do business with her HFA, the structure of the programs in the state presents some challenges. The representative said that the first mortgage products offered are not competitive with the portfolio product that her bank offers, primarily due to the cost of mortgage insurance (the HFA does not offer a product that does not require mortgage insurance). In addition, many of the affordable units in the area come with deed restrictions that are not approved by Fannie Mae, so they are not acceptable to the HFA.

This Guide covers the following State Housing Finance Agency programs, products, and services:

First-Lien Mortgage Products: HFAs offer first-lien mortgage products for low- and moderate-income borrowers with low down payments, reduced interest rates, and/or down payment and closing cost assistance, which they purchase from participating lenders within their states. Participating lenders are financial institutions that are approved by the HFA to offer these products to borrowers with the assurance that the HFA will purchase the mortgage at a set price. In addition to the HFA products, they may purchase conventional products from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).<sup>3</sup> HFAs may offer products that serve a variety of purposes including purchase, refinance, and rehabilitation.

Down Payment and Closing Cost Assistance: HFAs offer assistance in the form of a grant or a second mortgage loan, which covers down payment and/or closing costs for low- and moderate-income, first-time homebuyers or other targeted populations. Most HFAs require that the vast majority of HFA down payment assistance programs be used in combination with a first mortgage product offered by the HFA.

Mortgage Tax Credit Certificates (MCC): HFAs manage a tax credit program, which is designed to help first-time homebuyers offset a portion of their mortgage interest on a new mortgage. MCCs reduce the borrower's federal tax liability, dollar for dollar, by a specific percentage of the mortgage interest paid by the borrower. MCCs can be combined with a variety of mortgage loan products including conventional and government low-down payment products.

Homeownership Education/Counseling: HFAs participate in homebuyer education and counseling in their states in a variety of ways, from developing programs and offering the education to sponsoring education classes and providing training to regionally-based housing counselors within their states. Many HFAs also partner with online homebuyer education providers to offer online homebuyer classes. Homeownership classes are required for many HFA programs.

Other Homeownership Programs: Individual Development Accounts (IDAs) are offered by some HFAs to provide matching funds to borrowers saving for a down payment and/or closing costs. Many HFAs also offer foreclosure prevention services and other counseling services and may also offer refinance products. A few HFAs offer mortgage insurance products for use in combination with their own mortgage products or with third party, affordable loans made to low- and moderate-income borrowers.

DOING BUSINESS WITH STATE HOUSING FINANCE AGENCIES

HFAs rely on lender partners to promote and deliver their products and services to customers. Since each state has its own HFA, programs are generally targeted to the specific housing markets and the needs of the low- and moderate-income borrowers in each state. Utilizing these HFA program offerings helps lenders meet their business development and Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) goals for community-oriented and affordable lending.

Many HFAs offer multiple execution options to allow banks to choose a method of delivery that best fits their internal capacity and delivery preference, i.e., deliver as a Third-Party Originator (TPO) where the loans are approved by the HFA, or as a direct lender where the bank approves the loan on the HFA's behalf.

First-Lien Mortgage Products

OVERVIEW

State Housing Finance Agencies (HFAs) offer first-lien mortgage products (often called first mortgages by HFAs) to help low- and moderate-income first-time homebuyers and other targeted populations become homeowners. In most cases, HFAs do not originate loans. Instead, State Housing Finance Agencies design loan products offered by participating lenders. The HFAs then purchase these mortgages from participating lenders. These loans are either held on the balance sheet of the HFA or sold into the secondary market. HFA mortgages are originated, processed, and closed by a state-wide network of approved lender partners. HFA first-lien mortgage loans are typically purchased as servicing released and are serviced by the HFA or by a master servicer chosen by the HFA. Sometimes HFA loans close in the name of the lender, and other times, they close in the name of the HFA.

HFAs offer first-lien mortgages designed to serve their communities with features that may include competitive or lower-than-market interest rates; down payment and closing cost assistance; and flexible underwriting guidelines designed to meet the needs of low- and moderate-income homebuyers, which can include lower-than-standard minimum borrower contributions.

While some HFAs offer a single first-lien mortgage product, others offer a variety of first-lien mortgage programs and products, each with different eligibility, underwriting, and pricing structures aimed at different target populations. For instance, some programs are geared specifically to active military personnel or veterans or persons with disabilities. Often, these targeted programs are more deeply subsidized versions of other available HFA products. Other product offerings include conventional mortgage product options with and without mortgage insurance.

Traditionally, HFA first-lien mortgage programs are funded by Mortgage Revenue Bonds (MRB). MRB-funded loans must meet certain conditions: the borrower must be a first-time homebuyer, have an income below 115 percent of the area median income, and the home price cannot exceed 90 percent of the average area sales price (110 percent in targeted areas).<sup>4</sup> In addition, the total amount of MRB funds each state can receive is capped annually using a formula based on the state's population.

Increasingly, HFAs are looking to broaden their sources of funding, such as the use of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac secondary market products designed exclusively for the HFAs, mortgage-backed securities (MBS) sales, and Federal Home Loan Bank funding to expand their lending programs and offer alternatives to the standard MRB-funded products. Consequently, many HFAs now have both MRB and "secondary market" first-lien mortgage product offerings. This allows HFAs to continue operating their traditional programs and offer alternative product executions to serve the needs of the lender, as well as new types of borrowers, such as repeat homebuyers and borrowers with incomes above the MRB limits. Common HFA first-lien mortgage product offerings include loans originated for the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA),<sup>5</sup> Fannie Mae, and Freddie Mac, as well as conventional low-down payment products.

<sup>4</sup> These are Mortgage Revenue Bond standards. Specific income and price restrictions vary by state and in some cases may be more restrictive than the federal standards.

MORTGAGE PURPOSE

Purchase: Most HFAs offer at least one first-lien mortgage purchase program. Often these programs are targeted to first-time homebuyers (homebuyers who have not owned a home within the previous three years), but many also offer programs for repeat borrowers. Often these purchase programs are designed for use in combination with specific HFA down payment and closing cost programs. First-lien mortgage purchase products vary by state, but often include conventional and government-insured low down payment options (FHA, VA, and USDA).

Refinance: Some HFAs offer refinance products. Refinance products include conventional, FHA, or in some cases, USDA loans. Some refinance programs are limited to existing HFA borrowers, while others are open to all homeowners within the state who meet specific eligibility requirements.

Rehabilitation: Many HFAs provide financing options for the purchase and repair or rehabilitation of a home with one loan. HFA rehabilitation loans can be offered with FHA 203(k), FHA Streamline 203(k), or USDA rural development loans. Eligible improvements generally include repairs to improve the accessibility, livability, or safety of a home, energy improvements, or water or sewer system improvements. (Many HFAs also offer rehabilitation products for existing homeowners.)

MORTGAGE PRODUCT TYPES

HFA conventional portfolio loans: Most HFAs offer low down payment conventional loans (typically 95 percent to 97 percent loan to value) with flexible underwriting guidelines, often designed for use in combination with an HFA down payment and closing cost assistance program.

Government loans: Many HFAs offer low down payment government-insured or guaranteed loan products, often designed for use in combination with an HFA down payment and closing cost assistance program. HFA government loans must meet the eligibility and underwriting guidelines of the federal agency that offers the program, as well as any HFA eligibility and underwriting overlay requirements. For instance, many HFAs have minimum credit score and/or debt-to-income ratios that are more restrictive than federal program guidelines. HFA government mortgage products include the Federal Housing Administration's 203(b) Mortgage Insurance Program for low down payment loans, which is the core FHA homeownership program; the Federal Housing Administration's 203(k) low down payment loan, designed to finance both the purchase of a home and renovation costs in a single, low down payment mortgage; the Federal Housing Administration's Streamline 203(k), which is a low down payment loan designed to finance both the purchase of a home and repairs or renovations up to $35,000 in a single, low down payment mortgage; the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Home Purchase Loan, which is a zero down payment loan guarantee to service members, veterans, and surviving spouses;

POTENTIAL BENEFITS

HFA first-lien mortgage products provide lenders with the ability to sell conventional and/or government mortgage loans and transfer the liquidity, interest rate, prepayment, and servicing risks to the HFAs.

Loans originated through HFA first-lien mortgage products may be positively considered under the Community Reinvestment Act, depending on the geography or incomes of the participating borrowers.

HFA first-lien mortgage products offer reduced rates and/or down payment and closing cost assistance.

Many HFAs offer flexible servicing options that allow banks to retain or sell servicing rights.

POTENTIAL CHALLENGES

Many HFA first-lien mortgage products have credit and underwriting overlays that may make government loan products more restrictive than those delivered directly by a lender to the agencies.

A limited pool of borrowers is eligible for these products due to specific income limits and other limited flexibilities for borrower and loan characteristics.

Funding for HFA programs is subject to availability and funds may be limited.

and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Section 502 Single Family Loan, which is a zero down payment loan for rural low- and moderate-income borrowers.

Fannie Mae's HFA Preferred (Low MI): Fannie Mae designed a low mortgage insurance product for eligible HFAs. The 30-year, fixed rate, 97 percent loan-to-value product provides low interest rates and reduced mortgage insurance coverage requirements. Fannie Mae's loan level price adjustments<sup>6</sup> are waived. Minimum contributions from the borrower's own funds are also waived. This product is often allowed to be coupled with HFA down payment and closing cost assistance.

Fannie Mae's HFA Preferred Risk-Sharing (No MI): Fannie Mae designed a no mortgage insurance product for eligible HFAs. This 30-year, fixed rate, 97 percent loan-to-value product provides lower interest rates and no mortgage insurance coverage requirements. HFAs retain a limited repurchase obligation to Fannie Mae in lieu of mortgage insurance. The lender does not retain credit risk beyond standard Fannie Mae's representations and warranties.

Freddie Mac's HFA Advantage: Freddie Mac designed a product for eligible HFAs. The 30-year, fixed rate, 97 percent loan-to-value, 105 percent total loan-to-value product provides low interest rates and reduced mortgage insurance coverage requirements. There are no reserves required and HFA Advantage offers flexible funding options for down payment and closing costs.

TARGETED POPULATIONS

Many HFAs either offer special programs or more deeply subsidized versions of their traditional programs to targeted populations within their states. For example, the Oklahoma Housing Finance Agency (OHFA) offers several different OHFA Advantage first-lien mortgage products, including the OHFA Dream, a product available to all income-qualified borrowers; the OHFA Gold, a product available to first-time homebuyers only; the OHFA Shield, a product available to law enforcement professionals only; and OHFA 4 Teachers, a product available exclusively to educators. Targeted programs and products can vary by eligibility requirements as well as by underwriting and loan subsidy features. In many cases, products geared toward targeted populations might receive a deeper subsidy than that offered to the wider population. For instance, some products might restrict down payment and closing costs assistance to targeted populations. In other cases, the difference might be in the interest rate of the loan. In the OHFA example, the interest rates on the targeted populations products were .25 percent to .375 percent lower than comparable products offered to the wider population. Targeted populations generally still must meet income and sales price eligibility requirements.

Targeted populations may include:

- first-time homebuyers (generally defined as having not owned a home in the previous three years);
- active military or veterans;
- people with disabilities;
- elderly;
- section 8 housing voucher recipients;
- teachers;
- police, firefighters, health workers;
- Native Americans; and
- economically impacted or underserved locations, often referred to as "targeted communities." Programs in these areas may have broader eligibility requirements to include non-first-time homebuyers or higher income and sales price limits.

LOAN DELIVERY

HFAs offer a variety of funding and delivery options. In some cases, lenders fund the HFA loans and sell them to the HFA after closing. In others, HFAs provide the option of table funding the loans, where the HFA provides the funds to close the loan. HFA mortgages must be originated and sold to meet applicable investor and guarantor requirements, as well as those of the HFA. Each HFA has its own policies and procedures with regard to registering, locking interest rates, underwriting, and submitting loan application packages. HFAs often use Fannie Mae's Desktop Underwriter® or Freddie Mac's Loan Prospector® for electronic underwriting purposes. Many programs also allow manual underwriting. Training is often available to assist lenders and help them get started.

<sup>6</sup> Loan level price adjustments (LLPAs) are risk-based pricing adjustments that vary based on credit score, loan-to-value ratio, type of product, and various other factors that are charged at the time of origination. Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac charge both annual guarantee fees and upfront LLPAs. Most lenders convert LLPAs into the interest rate on the mortgage, which the borrower pays over time.

SERVICING OPTIONS

Generally, HFAs purchase loans under a servicing-released contract. HFA servicing-released loans are usually serviced by the HFA or by a master servicer chosen by the HFA. Many HFAs specialize in high touch servicing by focusing on early delinquency borrower outreach and maintaining low numbers of case files per staff member. The HFA, therefore, provides another servicing option for a bank that does not have this capacity, but wishes to originate mortgages for its local customers.

BORROWER ELIGIBILITY

While some HFA borrower eligibility requirements are driven by individual HFA program rules, many are tied to the use of their federal exempt bond authority (which must follow the rules established by the Internal Revenue Service) and by the federal or government sponsored enterprise program that is used. The tax-exempt bond rules apply to all HFA programs funded with federal exempt bonds and include income and sales price limits, first-time homebuyer requirements, and occupancy restrictions.

Income and sales price limits: All HFA products have income and/or sales price or loan amount limits since they are targeted to low- and moderate-income households. Often these limits vary by product. For instance, for those HFAs that offer multiple products, the most deeply subsidized products might require that borrowers meet lower income and sales price limits than limits set for less subsidized products. Underserved or targeted counties or areas are often granted higher income and sales price or loan limits.

Credit and debt-to-income limits: Credit score and debt-to-income limits vary by state and by program.

A COMMUNITY BANKER CONVERSATION

Using Fannie Mae's HFA Preferred Low Mortgage Insurance Product

One bank representative from Kentucky said that she likes the conventional no mortgage insurance (no MI) product that the HFA offers, which she says is "very competitive" with FHA monthly premiums. This is a 30-year, fixed rate, 97 percent loan-to-value product that provides low interest rates and has no mortgage insurance coverage requirements. HFAs retain a limited repurchase obligation to Fannie Mae in lieu of mortgage insurance. The no-MI product has a minimum credit score of 680, but for those borrowers who qualify, it is a good option.

Another banker from Illinois said that her bank also offers FHA loans in conjunction with HFA products. Sometimes, however, she finds that Fannie Mae's HFA Preferred low mortgage insurance product is a better fit for the borrower. It is a 30-year, fixed rate, 97 percent loan-to-value product that provides low interest rates and reduced mortgage insurance coverage requirements. Fannie Mae's loan level price adjustments (LLPAs) are waived. The private mortgage insurance can be dropped from the loan when a certain loan-to-value is reached, whereas in most cases the FHA loan's mortgage insurance premium stays with the mortgage for the life of the loan.

HFA Preferred has a maximum allowable combined loan-to-value ratio (CLTV) of 105 percent and allows customers to take advantage of the "Community Seconds®" available through HFAs and other sources. These housing finance agency programs, used in combination with HFA Preferred, can help those borrowers who are in a strong position to purchase a home, but do not have enough funds saved to cover a down payment and/or closing costs.

The banker said that her HFA has a credit score overlay of 640, even though the HFA Preferred product can have a lower credit score threshold (scores as low as 620 are allowed). Additionally, all first-time homebuyers must attend mandatory pre-purchase homeownership counseling, either through a HUD-approved counselor or through an approved online provider.

The bank specializes in combining multiple assistance programs when available, increasing affordability. For borrowers who are able to use the HFA funds toward down payment, these programs may increase their equity since the assistance is either forgiven over time, offered at zero percent, or provided as a grant.

Credit score and debt-to-income overlays<sup>7</sup> are common on HFA first-lien products that make use of government or GSE programs. Often if the HFA offers multiple loan products, different limits will apply for each product. HFA credit score and debt-to-income limits can also depend on the type of underwriting mechanism utilized. For instance, many HFAs will allow a lower minimum credit score for those loans that are successfully underwritten through Fannie Mae's Desktop Underwriter® or Freddie Mac's Loan Prospector® than if they are manually underwritten. Other underwriting overlays may also apply.

Targeted populations: Many first-lien mortgage programs are targeted to first-time homebuyers. In most cases, the definition of first-time homebuyer is a person who has not owned a home within the previous three years. Other first-lien mortgage programs target specific populations, such as active military personnel or veterans, police, firefighters or teachers, or recent college graduates. Many HFAs offer multiple first-lien mortgage programs, usually with one or more designed for specific populations and others for the general public.

Occupancy: HFA first-lien mortgage programs are typically restricted to owner-occupied properties.

Property type: The property types allowed under each first-lien mortgage program vary by state, but often include single-family detached homes, two- to four-unit properties in which the owner will occupy one of the units, condominiums, and townhomes. Many programs allow manufactured housing and modular homes as long as they are permanently affixed to the foundation and are titled as real estate.

Homeownership counseling: Most, but not all, states require some form of pre-purchase homebuyer education in order to qualify for down payment and closing cost assistance. HFAs offer a variety of in-person and online options. For buyers purchasing two- to four-unit properties, landlord education is also typically required. The specific delivery channels and program requirements vary by state.

LOAN CRITERIA

In all cases, loans must meet the underwriting and eligibility criteria of the HFA as well as any applicable insuring agency. The ability to use other HFA programs in combination with a first-lien mortgage program varies by program and by state. For instance, in some states, a borrower might be able to receive an HFA first-lien mortgage product, as well as down payment and closing cost assistance and a mortgage tax credit certificate for the same purchase transaction. In other states, the mortgage tax credit certificate might not be allowed to be combined with another HFA program.

Lender compensation and allowable lender fees vary by state. In some cases, the HFA will pay lenders a specified amount, and lenders are not allowed to charge the borrowers directly. In others, lender fees are capped at a specific percentage or amount. For example, many programs cap lender origination fees at 1 percent and other service-related fees at $1,000.

BANK LENDER ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION PROCESS

HFA bank eligibility requirements to deliver first-lien mortgage loans often include minimum net worth benchmarks, a fidelity bond, and mortgage omissions insurance coverage, as well as a determination that the bank is in good standing with its regulatory agency. Many HFAs offer multiple execution options to allow banks to choose a method of delivery that best fits their internal capacity and delivery preference, i.e., deliver as a Third-Party Originator (TPO) where the loans are approved by the HFA, or as a direct lender where the bank approves the loan on the HFA's behalf. Eligibility requirements may vary depending on the type of execution agreement chosen by the bank.

Generally, banks are required to provide evidence that they have the capacity to process, underwrite, and close loans. If operating as a direct lender, a lender must also have the capacity to fund loans in its own name, using its own funds. In addition, HFAs often require that a bank is an approved originator of one or more of the following entities: Federal Housing Administration (FHA), U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development (RD), Fannie Mae, or Freddie Mac.

<sup>7</sup> Debt-to-income overlays are underwriting guidelines that supersede those of the underlying government or government sponsored enterprise loan product and are generally more restrictive. For example, an HFA might require a minimum credit score of 680 on an FHA loan even though the FHA product guidelines allow a lower score.

Number of HFAs that Offer First-Lien Mortgage Loans

Of the 54 HFAs covered in this Guide, 52 HFAs offer first-lien mortgage loans.

Potential Benefits

- HFA first-lien mortgage products provide lenders with the ability to sell conventional and/or government mortgage loans and transfer the liquidity, interest rate, prepayment, and servicing risks to the HFAs.
- Loans originated through HFA first-lien mortgage products may be positively considered under the Community Reinvestment Act, depending on the geography or incomes of the participating borrowers.
- HFA first-lien mortgage products offer reduced rates and/or down payment and closing cost assistance.
- Some HFA products offer underwriting flexibilities beyond traditional low down payment products.
- Many HFAs offer flexible servicing options that allow banks to retain or sell servicing rights.

Potential Challenges

- Many HFA first-lien mortgage products have credit and underwriting overlays that may make government loan products more restrictive than those delivered directly by a lender to the agencies.
- A limited pool of borrowers is eligible for these products due to specific income limits and other limited flexibilities for borrower and loan characteristics.
- Funding for HFA programs is subject to availability and funds may be limited.

RESOURCES

Down Payment and Closing Cost Assistance

OVERVIEW

For many low- and moderate-income people, the most significant barrier to homeownership is the down payment and closing costs associated with getting a mortgage loan. For that reason, most HFAs offer some form of down payment and closing cost assistance (DPA) to eligible low- and moderate-income homebuyers in their states. The vast majority of HFA down payment assistance programs must be used in combination with a first-lien mortgage product offered by the HFA. A few states offer stand-alone down payment and closing cost assistance that borrowers can combine with any non-HFA eligible mortgage product. Some DPA programs are targeted toward specific populations, such as first-time homebuyers, active military personnel and veterans, or teachers. Others offer assistance for any homebuyer who meets the income and purchase price limitations of their programs. These programs are structured in a variety of ways including forgivable grants; zero interest, deferred payment second mortgages (sometimes called “soft seconds”); and full interest, fully amortizing second loans.

Many HFAs also distribute federal funds to municipalities or nonprofits within their states to be used for local or regional down payment and closing cost assistance programs. Often these funds do not have to be coupled with HFA first-lien mortgage products. However, this Guide focuses on those down payment and closing cost assistance programs that are offered directly through the HFAs.

The details of each down payment assistance program, including whether the funds are offered as a grant or a loan, the terms of the loan, the amount of assistance provided, and borrower eligibility criteria all vary by state. Many states offer multiple down payment assistance programs with different structures and terms. A general description follows.

STRUCTURE

The structure of down payment assistance programs varies by state with some programs offering fully amortizing, repayable second mortgages, while other programs offer deferred payment and/or forgivable second mortgages, and still other programs offer grant funds with no repayment requirement.

DPA SECOND MORTGAGES (AMORTIZING)

A second mortgage loan is subordinate to the first mortgage and is used to cover down payment and closing costs. It is repayable over a given term. The interest rates and terms of the loans vary by state. In some programs, the interest rate on the second mortgage matches that of the first mortgage. Other programs offer more deeply subsidized rates on their second mortgage down payment assistance. Some HFAs offer more than one down payment assistance program with alternative structures or terms. For example, the Kentucky Housing Corporation currently offers one down payment assistance program that provides up to $6,000 for eligible borrowers, repayable over 10 years, at 5.5 percent interest (Regular DPA), and another more deeply subsidized program that provides up to $4,000 for eligible borrowers, repayable over 10 years, at 1 percent interest. Each program has separate eligibility criteria.

Potential Benefits

- HFA down payment and closing cost assistance products can help lenders expand their market.
- HFA down payment and closing cost assistance products may be positively considered under the Community Reinvestment Act, depending on the geography or incomes of the participating borrowers.

- Down-payment assistance second mortgages provide borrowers with financial assistance to pay for the required down payment and closing costs associated with purchasing a home and makes it possible for those who do not have sufficient savings to meet standard program requirements to own a home.
- Subsidized interest rates on the down payment assistance second mortgage can increase the affordability of the housing payment and the likelihood that the borrower will qualify for the loan.

Potential Challenges

- HFA down payment assistance is often limited to use in combination with an HFA first-lien mortgage product so lenders can't use this product with portfolio or other non-HFA first-lien mortgage products.
- Funding for HFA programs is subject to availability.
- Down-payment assistance second mortgages must be fully repaid by the borrower, unlike grant funds.
- A limited pool of borrowers is eligible for these products due to specific income limits and other limited flexibilities for borrower and loan characteristics.

DPA "SOFT SECOND" MORTGAGES

A "soft second" is a type of second, subordinate mortgage loan that is used to cover down payment and closing costs. The soft second has a deferred payment schedule in which the borrowers do not have to make any payments until/unless they sell their home or refinance their mortgage. Many, but not all, soft seconds are also forgivable over a specified term. For example, the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority offers down payment assistance in the amount of 3 percent to 4 percent of the purchase price of the home at zero percent interest with no monthly payments. The loan is fully forgiven after two years if the borrower remains in the home.

Potential Benefits

- Soft second mortgages provide borrowers with financial assistance to pay for the required down payment and closing costs associated with purchasing a home and makes it possible for those who do not have savings sufficient to meet standard program requirements to own a home.
- Soft second mortgages generally do not add to the monthly cost of owning a home, thus increasing housing affordability.
- Soft second mortgages may be positively considered under the Community Reinvestment Act, depending on the geography or incomes of the participating borrowers.

DPA Second Mortgages

POTENTIAL BENEFITS

HFA down payment and closing cost assistance products may be positively considered under the Community Reinvestment Act, depending on the geography or incomes of the participating borrowers.

Down-payment assistance second mortgages provide borrowers with financial assistance to pay for the required down payment and closing costs associated with purchasing a home and makes it possible for those who do not have sufficient savings to meet standard program requirements to own a home.

Subsidized interest rates on the down payment assistance second mortgage can increase the affordability of the housing payment and the likelihood that the borrower will qualify for the loan.

POTENTIAL CHALLENGES

HFA down payment assistance is often limited to use in combination with an HFA first-lien mortgage product so lenders can't use this product with portfolio or other non-HFA first-lien mortgage products.

Down-payment assistance second mortgages must be fully repaid by the borrower, unlike grant funds.

Potential Challenges

- The terms of soft seconds can be difficult to understand. If not disclosed properly, borrowers may misunderstand the terms of the soft second or forget that it exists until they are faced with repayment responsibility.
- Some soft seconds may have restrictions regarding transfers or selling of the home.
- This product adds a layer of complexity to the loan process.
- A limited pool of borrowers is eligible for these products due to specific income limits and other limited flexibilities for borrower and loan characteristics.

DOWN-PAYMENT ASSISTANCE GRANTS

Grant funds are provided for the purpose of down payment and closing cost assistance. Grant funds do not have to be repaid. For example, the Arizona Department of Housing offers a non-repayable down payment assistance grant in the amount of 2 percent to 5 percent of the principal loan amount, depending on the type of mortgage the borrower receives.

Potential Benefits

- Grant funds provide borrowers with financial assistance to pay for the required down payment and closing costs associated with purchasing a home and makes it possible for those who do not have sufficient savings to meet the requirements of standard programs to own a home.
- Grant funds do not have to be repaid by the borrower.

Potential Challenges

- HFA down payment assistance grant programs may run out of funds more quickly than loan programs, which are replenished by loan repayments.
- A limited pool of borrowers is eligible for HFA down payment assistance grant programs.

Number of HFAs that Offer Down-Payment Assistance

Of the 54 HFAs covered in this Guide, 53 HFAs offer first mortgage loan down payment and closing cost assistance.

BANK ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION PROCESS

Generally, banks must follow the same eligibility requirements and must follow the same application process as for HFA first-lien mortgage loan programs since most down payment assistance programs are coupled with HFA first-lien mortgage programs. Thus, only approved HFA lenders can offer HFA down payment and closing cost assistance to their borrowers.

HFA bank eligibility requirements to provide down payment and closing cost assistance may include minimum net worth benchmarks, a fidelity bond, and mortgage errors and omissions insurance coverage, as well as a determination by the HFA that the bank is in good standing with its regulatory agency. Banks are required to provide evidence that they have the capacity to process, underwrite, and close loans. In many cases, lenders must also have the capacity to fund loans in their own names using their own funds. This requirement depends on the types of loan delivery offered by the HFA. For instance, if an HFA allows table-funded deliveries in which the HFA funds the loan at closing, then a lender's capacity to fund loans may not be an eligibility requirement. In addition, HFAs often require that banks are an approved originator of one or more of the following entities: the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development (RD), Fannie Mae, or Freddie Mac.

Only approved HFA lenders can offer HFA down payment and closing cost assistance to their borrowers.

BORROWER ELIGIBILITY

Income and sales price limits: Most HFA down payment assistance programs have income and sales price limits. HFAs usually have greater restrictions on their down payment assistance programs than on their first loan products, so borrowers who qualify for an HFA first-lien mortgage loan will not necessarily qualify for a down payment assistance program. Exemptions to income and purchase price limits may apply for targeted underserved areas within a state.

Targeted populations: Many down payment assistance programs are targeted to first-time homebuyers. In most cases, the definition of a first-time homebuyer is a person who has not owned a home within the previous three years. Other down payment assistance programs are targeted to specific populations, such as active military or veterans, police, firefighters, teachers, or recent college graduates. Many HFAs offer multiple down payment assistance programs, one or more for specific populations, and others for the general public.

Occupancy: HFA down payment assistance programs are typically restricted to owner-occupied properties.

Property type: Allowable property types vary by state and by program.

Homeownership counseling: Many, but not all, states require that applicants attend pre-purchase homebuyer education to be eligible for down payment and closing cost assistance. Program requirements vary by state.

LOAN CRITERIA

First loan purpose: Down payment assistance programs are typically designed for use with mortgage purchase products.

Allowable first loan types: Most HFA down payment assistance programs must be combined with an HFA first-lien mortgage product. Programs that allow non-HFA first-lien mortgages have some restrictions on the types and terms of eligible mortgage products. These restrictions vary by state.

Lender down-payment assistance fees: Generally, lender fees are capped based on a percentage of the first mortgage amount (the origination fee of the first mortgage).

A COMMUNITY BANKER CONVERSATION

Using HFA Down Payment and Closing Cost Assistance

One east coast bank often combines an HFA first mortgage loan with programs from other organizations, such as the FHLBank of Boston's Equity Builder program, which is a $15,000 down payment and closing cost assistance grant. "Our HFA offers a 30-year fixed mortgage product with an affordable interest rate combined with a 3 percent down payment requirement that can come from a gift, if needed. When you combine this loan with a $15,000 FHLBank grant for down payment assistance and closing costs, it makes it even more affordable." The bank also utilizes municipal down payment and closing cost assistance programs. "It really depends on where the borrower is buying and what kind of assistance there is to help. In the Boston area, because of high housing costs, it's very typical to see more than one lien in our markets."

According to a banker in the Midwest, over the past four years, her bank has experienced a significant increase in the number of mortgage loans originated to low- and moderate-income borrowers. "One of the primary obstacles to homeownership is down payment. So we have embraced high loan-to-value first mortgage products and locally offered down payment assistance programs as our strategy."

Mortgage Tax Credit Certificate (MCC)

OVERVIEW

State HFAs may also manage a program that provides home purchasers with a significant tax credit in connection with their home loans. The credit can be used in a manner that assists people in making their monthly payments more affordable (affecting underwriting) for as long as the home remains their primary residence. Participating bankers provide information to their customers about the tax credit and apply to the HFA for the certificate on the borrower's behalf.

The Mortgage Tax Credit Certificate (MCC) program was established by the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 and was modified by the Tax Reform Act of 1986.<sup>8</sup> Under the law, states can convert a portion of their federal allocation of private activity bonds (PABs) to MCC authority on a four-to-one basis. Mortgage tax credit certificates can help lenders increase their appeal to first-time homebuyers and help more borrowers qualify for homes by reducing their mortgage payments. MCCs are not a loan product, but rather a federal tax credit. MCCs are certificates issued by HFAs that increase the federal tax benefits of owning a home and helps low- and moderate-income, first-time homebuyers offset a portion of the amount they owe in mortgage interest.

An MCC is not a tax deduction, but rather it provides a dollar-for-dollar tax credit to recipients to increase housing payment affordability. In some cases, MCCs can also help borrowers who might not otherwise qualify for a loan by reducing their net monthly mortgage payment.

MCCs are issued directly to qualifying homebuyers who are then entitled to take a nonrefundable federal tax credit equal to a specified percentage of the interest paid on their mortgage loan each year. These tax credits can be taken at the time the borrowers file their tax returns. Alternatively, borrowers can amend their W-4 tax withholding forms from their employer to reduce the amount of federal income tax withheld from their paychecks in order to receive the benefit on a monthly basis.

The tax credit percentages vary by state, but are generally in the amount of 20 percent to 40 percent of the total mortgage interest. The remaining interest obligation may be deducted (by those who itemize deductions) as a standard home mortgage interest deduction. Regardless of the tax credit percentage issued, the Internal Revenue Service caps the maximum tax credit that may be taken for any given year at $2,000 for each MCC recipient. The MCC tax credit remains in place for the life of the mortgage, so long as the residence remains the borrower's principal residence.

The total MCC tax credit for each year cannot exceed the recipient's total federal income tax liability for that year, after accounting for all other credits and deductions. Credits in excess of the current year tax liability may be carried forward for use in the subsequent three years. Therefore, it is important to consider the potential limitations of the credit for those homebuyers with a minimal tax obligation.

Unlike down payment and closing cost assistance programs, MCC programs generally do not restrict the type of mortgage financing with which they are coupled. In particular, MCCs do not have to be combined with an HFA first-lien mortgage. First mortgages originated in connection with MCCs but not originated under an HFA first-lien mortgage program are retained by the lender (rather than sold to the HFA) and can be held or sold at the discretion of the lender.

MCC EXAMPLE

Joe and Sylvia are purchasing their first home. Their annual income is $50,000. The mortgage interest that they will owe in the first year of owning their new home is $10,000.

Without an MCC, Joe and Sylvia would be able to deduct all of the $10,000 in mortgage interest that they paid during year one, assuming their other deductions are high enough that taking the standard deduction is not a better tax strategy. However, if Joe and Sylvia get an MCC for 20 percent of the interest on the mortgage, they will be able to deduct $8,000 of their mortgage interest AND also receive a $2,000 dollar-for-dollar credit.

The tables below show an extremely simplified illustration of Joe and Sylvia's federal tax obligation with and without a mortgage tax credit certificate.<sup>9</sup> It is important to note that if Joe and Sylvia do not itemize deductions, they will get no tax benefit from the mortgage without the MCC.

WITHOUT AN MCC		WITH AN MCC
Annual income	$50,000	Annual income	$50,000
Mortgage interest to deduct	$10,000	Mortgage interest to deduct (80% total)	$8,000
Taxable income (assume 15% tax rate)	$40,000	Taxable income (assume 15% tax rate)	$42,000
Federal income tax	$6,000	Federal income tax	$6,300
Total Income Tax Owed	$6,000	Minus 20% MCC tax credit	($2,000)
		Total Income Tax Owed	$4,300
		Net gain from MCC (first year)	$1,700

In this example, Joe and Sylvia would save $1,700 in federal taxes in the first year they received a mortgage tax credit. This annual credit could also be added to their annual income for the purpose of qualifying for a mortgage by amending their W-4 tax withholding forms, which may boost their chances of loan approval. They would also continue receiving the annual MCC benefit, albeit in a smaller amount as the interest they pay on the mortgage declines, for as long as they keep their mortgage.

<sup>9</sup> This simplified illustration is intended to show how a tax credit can be applied and does not account for individual financial circumstances. For instance, the assumed 15 percent tax rate applied to the taxable income does not account for personal exemptions or other deductions and credits that may apply. It is important to analyze the financial circumstances of each potential tax credit recipient in order to properly advise.

POTENTIAL BENEFITS

Mortgage Tax Credits increase borrowers' payment affordability.

Mortgage Tax Credits help lenders reach and qualify more low- and moderate-income borrowers.

Mortgage Tax Credits can be coupled with most first mortgage loans.

POTENTIAL CHALLENGES

The application, benefits, and limitations of the Mortgage Tax Credit Certificate program can be difficult to explain to borrowers.

Borrowers may be subject to recapture tax (although this is a low risk).

State HFA MCC programs are subject to funding availability and may run out when the bond funds allocated to MCCs are expended.

RECAPTURE TAX

A portion of the MCC benefit is subject to recapture by the Internal Revenue Service if a recipient meets all three of the following conditions:

1. the borrower sells the home within nine years of purchase;
2. the borrower earns significantly more income than when he/she bought the home;<sup>10</sup> and
3. the borrower has a gain from the sale of the home.

Only borrowers who meet all three criteria will be subject to recapture. MCC borrowers are not subject to recapture if they sell, give away, or dispose of the home more than nine full years after closing. The maximum amount of recapture, which is payable on the sale of the home, is 6.25 percent of the original principal balance of the loan or 50 percent of the gain on the sale of the home, whichever is less.

Most HFAs report that the majority of their program recipients are not subject to tax recapture. Nevertheless, many HFAs have Reimbursement Recapture Tax programs that will reimburse borrowers for any recapture tax incurred.<sup>11</sup>

Number of HFAs that Offer MCCs

Of the 54 HFAs found in this Guide, 33 HFAs offer mortgage tax credit certificates.

BANK ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION PROCESS

HFA MCC program approval requirements are generally more streamlined than the process to become an approved first mortgage and down payment assistance approved lender. To use MCC programs, lenders need to be approved by the insuring agency for which they originate loans, i.e., the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Housing Services (RHS), Fannie Mae, or Freddie Mac and have an office physically located in the state for which it is approved. Minimum net asset requirements may apply. Generally, lenders will need to sign a participation agreement that outlines the lender's responsibilities and requirements associated with the program, such as submitting documents for approval to the HFA and record-keeping responsibilities. Participation agreements generally outline the documentation and borrower certification requirements associated with the program. In many cases, the HFAs charge an annual fee for lenders to participate in the program.

BORROWER CRITERIA

Income and sales price limits: Income and sales price limits are standard eligibility requirements for all MCC programs. These limits vary by state.

First-time homebuyers: MCC programs are limited to first-time homebuyers (borrowers who have not had an ownership interest in a principal residence in three years). The first-time homebuyer requirement is waived for those borrowers purchasing a home in targeted areas as defined by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Affairs (HUD) at the census tract level or designated as such by state governments, as well as for active military and veterans.

Occupancy: Borrowers must use the home as their principal/primary residence.

Homeownership counseling: Many HFA programs require some form of pre-purchase homebuyer education. These requirements vary by state.

PROGRAM CRITERIA

First loan purpose combined with MCCs: MCCs are restricted to use in combination with purchase loans (refinances are not eligible). However, if a borrower currently has an MCC, and decides to refinance into a new mortgage, many programs allow the borrower to apply to receive a new MCC issued against their refinanced mortgage.

<sup>10</sup> A borrower will not meet this condition for recapture unless they earn the maximum income limit that would have applied to their qualifying household size at the time of purchase, compounded by 5 percent per year from the date of purchase until the home is sold or transferred.

Using the Mortgage Tax Credit Certificate program

A banker from Kentucky helps her customers take advantage of the Mortgage Tax Credit Certificate (MCC) program offered by the HFA. She said she uses MCCs, which are certificates issued to qualifying homebuyers that increase the federal tax benefits of owning a home. This helps low- and moderate-income, first-time homebuyers offset a portion of the amount they owe in mortgage interest by providing a tax credit that can increase housing payment affordability. In some cases, an MCC may also help borrowers qualify for a higher loan amount by increasing the monthly income that can be used toward qualifying. "The MCC represents an unclaimed pool of resources that even those of us who have been doing this for a long time don't always think about. People think it's a lot of extra work but it's not; it's just a few extra documents."

First loan type with MCCs: Most fixed-rate loan types are eligible. Loans must be underwritten according to FHA, VA, RHS, or conventional loan criteria as appropriate and offered at prevailing market rates.

Combination with other HFA programs: Some states allow the MCC program to be combined with other HFA programs on the same transaction, such as allowing a borrower to receive an HFA first-lien mortgage loan and down payment assistance and also receive an MCC. Other states limit the degree to which HFA subsidy programs can be combined.

HFA MCC fees: HFAs typically charge a one-time MCC fee to the borrower, which is applied at the time of closing. In some programs, this fee is waived or reduced if the MCC is being issued in combination with an HFA first-lien mortgage product. Fees vary by state.

Lender MCC fees: Lender MCC fees are generally allowed, but capped at a specific amount. Fee caps vary by state.

Other lender fees: The loan origination and other service-related fees may be capped on loans receiving an MCC in some states.

Homeownership Education and Counseling

OVERVIEW

Housing counseling and education classes and one-on-one sessions can offer valuable information and tools to prospective homebuyers. Topics range from how to navigate the mortgage application process and assess and compare mortgage terms to how prospective buyers can best prepare themselves financially for the costs associated with homeownership. Many HFAs are committed to offering their homebuyer program recipients the resource of homeownership counseling to ensure that buyers enter homeownership equipped with the knowledge and resources that will help them succeed.

HFAs play a significant role in the homebuyer education and homeownership counseling efforts within their states. Some develop and offer homebuyer and/or foreclosure prevention directly. More commonly, HFAs provide funding and/or technical assistance to regional education and counseling provider partners. Much of the funding for these counseling programs comes from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD's) Housing Counseling Assistance Program, which awards competitive grants to HUD-approved Housing Counseling Agencies and State Housing Finance Agencies.

Homebuyer education or pre-purchase counseling is a requirement of many HFA programs. Most HFAs that require pre-purchase counseling offer online options for those borrowers who are unable to attend an in-person class.

PRE-PURCHASE HOMEBUYER EDUCATION

Most, but not all, HFAs recommend or require some form of pre-purchase education and/or counseling for potential homebuyers. These classes are delivered in a variety of formats including in-person classes, one-on-one phone sessions, and online courses. Pre-purchase topics vary, but are likely to include assessing a borrower's readiness to purchase, the process of obtaining a mortgage loan, the costs and responsibilities associated with maintaining a home, and basic personal finance issues such as credit and budgeting. Some HFAs have developed their own in-house pre-purchase programs, while others provide sponsorship and training through partner organizations. Some HFAs do not fund homebuyer education, but do require or recommend that program participants utilize existing resources within their communities. Many pre-purchase classes charge a small fee to attend. This fee is waived in some HFA first-lien mortgage and down payment assistance programs.

ONLINE OPTIONS

While some HFAs have developed their own online pre-purchase course for homebuyers, many HFAs partner with national homebuyer and homeownership educators such as eHome America and/or Framework that provides interactive, personalized online programs, giving borrowers the flexibility to complete the class on their own time at home.

FORECLOSURE PREVENTION COUNSELING

Many HFAs provide counseling for borrowers having difficulty making their mortgage payment. In some states, this assistance is provided only to existing HFA borrowers. In other states, foreclosure prevention counseling is open to all borrowers within the state who meet income and property guidelines. Some forms of foreclosure prevention counseling focus on explaining the standard loss mitigation options (i.e., repayment plans, loan modifications, short sales) that are available to borrowers. Many programs also provide or will refer borrowers to financial budgeting or credit counseling resources. Other programs offer direct mediation with the borrower's servicer and work with the borrower to identify steps that might prevent foreclosure.

Number of HFAs that Require Homeownership Counseling

Of the 54 HFAs found in this Guide, 45 HFAs require some form of homeownership counseling to participate in some or all of their programs.

Potential Benefits

- Homebuyer education can prepare homebuyers for the home-buying process, as well as the responsibilities of homeownership.
- Customers who have attended homebuyer courses may be better prepared and know what to expect during the mortgage application process.

Potential Challenges

- Many HFA programs require completion of an approved homebuyer education course. If not properly scheduled, this requirement might affect the timing of the loan closing.

Other Homeownership Products and Programs

INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT ACCOUNTS

Individual Development Accounts (IDAs) are matched savings accounts that help lower-income individuals and families save for a specific goal such as homeownership, opening a small business, or going to college. Some HFAs offer IDAs that can help borrowers save for the purchase of a home, either directly or through a network of community organizations. Generally, these IDA programs are funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Assets for Independence program. This program requires states to match all federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Homeownership IDAs provide grant funds to match the savings of a participant over a specific amount of time, up to a specified amount, to be used for down payment and closing costs. The HFA's contribution is generally structured in multiples of the participant's contribution. For example, the HFA might contribute three dollars for every one dollar the borrower saves. Qualifying participants work with assigned counselors to set up a monthly or annual savings deposit schedule and then deposit funds into an IDA-designated savings account over a specific period of time. Borrowers who follow the plan and save the required amount will receive the agreed upon matching grant funds at the time of the loan closing. Borrowers who decide to exit the program may choose to withdraw the money they have contributed to the savings account at any time, but lose the match benefit. Income eligibility requirements for HFA IDA programs may be more restrictive than for standard HFA program requirements. Pre-purchase homebuyer education is typically required.

Number of HFAs that Offer IDAs

Of the 54 HFAs covered in this Guide, three HFAs offer individual development accounts: Indiana, Michigan, and New York.

Potential Benefits

- IDAs can help lenders reach lower-income consumers who might have difficulty saving for down payment and closing costs.
- IDA matching funds do not have to be repaid by the borrower.

Potential Challenges

- IDA programs generally require 12-36 months to complete.
- IDA programs are dependent on availability of both federal and state match funds.

ALTERNATIVE PRIVATE MORTGAGE INSURANCE OPTIONS

Direct funded mortgage insurance: Many HFAs offer lenders with alternatives to the traditional mortgage insurance products required on loans with loan-to-value ratios above 80 percent. Some HFAs offer direct-funded mortgage insurance. HFA direct-funded mortgage insurance programs typically offer reduced mortgage insurance coverage requirements. In some cases, HFAs offer their own captive mortgage insurance product. In other cases, HFAs may purchase a pooled mortgage insurance policy from a mortgage insurance company and offer lenders the ability to utilize the policy in an effort to keep mortgage insurance rates low on their first-lien mortgage products. Some HFA direct-funded mortgage insurance programs come with the additional benefit of providing insurance to help borrowers make their monthly payments in the case of job loss. Coverage is capped at a specific number of months or dollar amount.

Low and no-mortgage insurance first-lien mortgage products: As mentioned in the first-lien mortgage section, many HFAs also offer no or low mortgage insurance products. In many cases, these products are Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac products developed specifically for the HFAs to reach low- and moderate-income borrowers that are only available through HFAs.

Mortgage insurance for a specific purpose: In a small number of states, HFAs offer mortgage insurance to lenders for specific loan purposes, such as to lend against property on tribal lands.

Number of HFAs that offer Fannie Mae and/or Freddie Mac HFA

Mortgage Insurance Products: Of the 54 HFAs found in this Guide, 34 HFAs offer at least one Fannie Mae and/or Freddie Mac low- or no-mortgage insurance first-lien mortgage product.

Potential Benefits

- Reduced mortgage insurance requirements make payments more affordable for the borrower.
- Some HFA mortgage insurance programs offer additional insurance to cover borrowers in the event of job loss.

Products and Programs beyond the Scope of this Guide

RENTAL PROGRAMS

HFAs offer a variety of programs aimed at increasing rental and multifamily development within their states by working with developers that build or rehabilitate rental housing for low- and moderate-income families. Rental programs include below market financing options for developers and/or subsidy funds allocated directly to projects. Housing tax credits allow developers to raise private equity by selling federal tax credits to investors. Some HFAs also provide rental assistance directly to borrowers in the form of vouchers.

FUNDING SOURCES FOR SUB-RECIPIENTS AND PARTNERS OFFERING HOMEOWNERSHIP PROGRAMMING

Many HFAs provide funding for sub-recipients and partners within their states that deliver programming related to affordable homeownership. In many cases, these programs are funded by federal programs. HFAs act as umbrella organizations for their states and pass down these federal funds to sub-recipients, including local governments and housing-related nonprofit organizations. For example, many HFAs fund regionally based programming for homeownership counseling or down payment and closing cost assistance.

FORECLOSURE PREVENTION PROGRAMS

In addition to the foreclosure prevention counseling efforts described earlier, some HFAs provide short-term mortgage assistance loans or refinance loans designed to keep borrowers from foreclosure. Some HFAs restrict foreclosure prevention programming to existing HFA borrowers while others are open to all income-eligible homeowners.

HOME REPAIR AND REHABILITATION FOR EXISTING HOMEOWNERS

Many HFAs offer existing low- and moderate-income homeowners with home improvement loan options. HFAs offer a variety of rehabilitation products aimed at increasing the accessibility of the home for elderly or disabled homeowners, increasing the energy efficiency of the home and/or increasing the safety and/or the life of the home (roof repairs, etc.). Included among products to increase energy efficiency are weatherization programs that provide eligible recipients with free home assessments and weatherization services designed to increase the energy efficiency and thus decrease energy-related housing costs. The eligible purposes and terms and conditions of rehabilitation loans vary by state.

SMALL BUSINESS PROGRAMS

Some HFAs provide affordable small business loans and favorable financing through federally funded New Markets Tax Credits (NMTC), which are designed to fuel job creation and economic development within their states.

ADVICE FROM A COMMUNITY BANKER

“Don’t be afraid of the unknown. The information is out there, the support is out there. It also really helps to diversify your customer base, especially for a community bank. If you are not able to offer the wide range of products that are available, you are selling yourself short and potentially pushing your customers out the door and into the arms of another willing bank.”

FDIC's Community Affairs Program

The FDIC's Community Affairs Program supports the FDIC's mission to promote stability and public confidence in the nation's financial system by encouraging economic inclusion and community development initiatives that broaden access to safe and affordable credit and deposit services from insured depository institutions, particularly for low- and moderate-income (LMI) consumers and small businesses.

To accomplish this work, the FDIC:

- provides information and technical assistance to banks to assist them in responding to the credit and banking needs of the communities they serve, including low- and moderate-income people;
- convenes banks, state and local governments, and community-based organizations to explore resources and promising practices on a variety of topics;
- develops and disseminates financial education tools for all ages to banks, teachers, parents, emerging small businesses, and nonprofit training organizations; and
- supports pilot programs and alliances to expand financial capability and economic inclusion.

For low- and moderate-income consumers and small business owners, access to the mainstream banking system provides an important pathway to economic opportunity. Over time, the establishment of a successful relationship with a depository institution can help manage day-to-day needs and build wealth to achieve future goals.

Broad participation in the mainstream financial system is an essential element in promoting stability and confidence in that system. Banks build trust and confidence through their ongoing work to serve their communities and by offering fair, safe, and affordable services, including for low- and moderate-income people. The FDIC's Community Affairs staff is available to assist financial institutions in developing strategies that are responsive to the credit, service, and investment needs of their communities.

ECONOMIC INCLUSION

The FDIC Community Affairs Program places a priority on addressing five areas of opportunity for economic inclusion. These are:

1. support quality programs and resources for financial education and capability;
2. promote access to and use of safe, affordable, insured deposit accounts;
3. improve household financial resilience by encouraging safe and affordable savings and credit solutions;
4. encourage insured depository institutions to make available prudently underwritten, affordable, and responsible mortgage credit for LMI households; and
5. encourage insured depository institutions and their partners to prudently serve the financial needs of emerging entrepreneurs and small businesses.

TERMS

Approved lender: Lenders that apply for and meet requirements established by the entity (i.e., the Federal Housing Administration, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the government-sponsored enterprises, and State Housing Finance Agencies) are granted permission to participate in the entity's programs. Approved activities may include origination, underwriting, purchasing, holding, servicing, or selling mortgages, or offering other mortgage-related subsidy programs. Common eligibility requirements include a net worth threshold, a checklist of financial statements, and a quality control program.

Approved seller/servicer: An institution approved to sell mortgages to, and to service mortgages purchased by the entity (i.e., Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac). Common eligibility requirements include a net worth threshold, a checklist of financial statements, and a quality control program.

Area loan limits: Entities establish the maximum loan that can be insured, purchased, or guaranteed by the entity or program. Limits are based on median home values at the county level and entities typically update limits annually. For example, the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) sets “conforming loan limits” for the government-sponsored enterprises, the Federal Housing Administration sets “statutory loan limits” for approved lenders, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has “area loan limits,” and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs follows FHFA guidelines.

Automated underwriting system (AUS): A computer generates a loan underwriting decision based on borrower data and algorithms. Compared to manual underwriting, which can take as long as 60 days, the automated process provides a quick decision and avoids human bias. Entities create systems tailored to their programs; for example, Fannie Mae developed Desktop Underwriter®, and Freddie Mac uses Loan Prospector®.

Basis points: A basis point is one hundredth of 1 percent. That is, one basis point equals 0.01 percent or there are 100 basis points in 1 percent. It is a common unit of measure for interest rates.

Certificate of Eligibility (COE): Veterans must meet eligibility requirements and obtain a Certificate of Eligibility from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to be eligible for a VA Home Loan. The certificate verifies to the lender that the borrower is eligible for a VA-backed loan.

Closing costs: Fees incurred by the borrower and/or seller for costs associated with the closing transaction. Common fees include appraisal fees, tax service provider fees, title insurance, government taxes, and prepaid expenses such as property taxes and homeowner’s insurance. Fees are generally paid up front at closing or the lender may roll them into the mortgage, resulting in higher monthly payments.

Combined loan to value ratio (CLTV): A ratio calculated by dividing the sum of (1) the loan amount of the first mortgage, (2) the outstanding principal balance of any home equity loan, and (3) the unpaid principal balance of all other subordinate financing, by the lesser of the sales price or the appraised value of the property. The CLTV ratio is used for a mortgage loan where the borrower has taken out more than one loan for the property.

Conventional loan: A mortgage that is not insured or guaranteed by a federal government agency, i.e., the Federal Housing Administration, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Conventional loans include both loans that conform to government-sponsored enterprise (GSE) guidelines and those that do not conform. Conventional mortgages delivered to the GSEs are also known as conforming mortgages.

Cost basis: For real estate, the cost basis includes the original purchase price and certain other expenses like real estate taxes owed by the seller, settlement fees, and closing costs plus any improvements to the property (but not maintenance costs).

Direct Endorsement Authority: Authority granted to Federal Housing Administration (FHA) approved lenders that allow them to underwrite loans and determine their eligibility for FHA mortgage insurance without the prior approval of HUD.

Discount points: Prepaid interest that borrowers can pay at loan origination to lower the amount of interest they have to pay in the future. Each discount point costs 1 percent of total loan amount and lowers the interest rate by  $\frac{1}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  percentage point. Lenders benefit by receiving cash up front instead of waiting for it in future interest payments.

Down payment: A payment made in cash at the onset of the purchase of an expensive asset. Homebuyers typically pay down payments that equal 5-25 percent of the total value of a home although some federal and GSE programs allow lower down payments.

Escrow: In general, escrow is money held by an impartial third party that disburses the funds after specified conditions are met. The lender establishes the account to pay for property-related expenses like property taxes and homeowner’s insurance on behalf of the borrower, and the borrower pays in monthly installments. Certain federal programs require lenders to maintain escrow accounts.

FHA loan correspondent: A financial institution approved by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) to originate and submit applications for guaranteed mortgages; the institution may not hold, purchase, or service guaranteed mortgages. A loan correspondent may be either a supervised or a non-supervised institution. A loan correspondent that is also a supervised institution may service guaranteed mortgages in its own portfolio. Non-supervised loan correspondents, or mortgage brokers, are non-depository financial entities that have as their principal activity the origination of FHA-insured mortgages for sale or transfer to one or more sponsors that underwrite the mortgages.

FICO score: A type of credit score that lenders use to assess a borrower's credit risk. FICO stands for Fair Isaac Corporation, the company that created the FICO score. Scores are calculated using borrower credit reports and range from 300 to 850. A lower score indicates the borrower has poorer credit, and a higher score indicates the borrower has stronger credit.

First mortgage: A mortgage in the first-lien position that has priority over all other liens or claims in the event of default.

Fixed-rate mortgage: The interest rate is defined when the borrower takes out the mortgage and does not change over the loan term.

Funding fee: Generally, veterans using a U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA)-backed loan must pay a funding fee. It is a percentage of the loan amount that varies based on the type of loan, military category, first-time loan user status, and existence of a down payment. VA funding fees may be financed with the mortgage or paid in cash at closing. Veterans with a service-connected disability are exempt from the funding fee.

Ginnie Mae: Short for the Government National Mortgage Association. Ginnie Mae guarantees timely payments on mortgage-backed securities (MBS) backed by federally-insured loans including those insured by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, Federal Housing Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Office of Public and Indian Housing. Ginnie Mae securities are the only MBS guaranteed by the federal government.

Guarantee fee: Fee charged to compensate secondary market purchasers for providing a guarantee on a mortgage-backed security. Guarantee fees are structured as a percentage of the total loan amount.

Housing authorities: A legal entity authorized by a state to provide housing strategies for its communities, including management of public housing. Housing authorities are required to follow federal regulations and receive subsidies from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. There are over 3,200 housing authorities across the country.

Individual Development Account (IDA): Grant funds provided to match a participant's savings contribution designed to help lower-income individuals and families save for a specific goal, such as homeownership, opening a small business, or going to college. Eligible participants contribute their own savings funds to an IDA account that is then matched by the sponsoring organization at an agreed upon ratio (i.e., 1:3) over a specific amount of time, up to a specified amount. Funds from homeownership IDAs are generally used for down payment and closing cost assistance.

Investing lender: A financial institution, including a charitable or nonprofit organization or pension fund, that is approved by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) to service, purchase, hold, or sell FHA-insured mortgages. This mortgagee type cannot originate or fund FHA loans.

Lien: A claim or charge against property or funds for payment of a debt or an amount owed for services rendered. In real estate, a mortgage is regarded as a lien. If not repaid, the debt can be recovered by foreclosure and sale of the real estate.

LIBOR: Short for London Interbank Offered Rate. A benchmark interest rate that banks use to charge each other for short-term loans. Based on five currencies—the U.S. dollar, Euro, pound sterling, Japanese yen, and Swiss franc—it serves seven different maturities: overnight, one week, and 1, 2, 3, 6, and 12 months.

Loan-level price adjustment (LLPA): Risk-based pricing adjustments that vary based on credit score, loan-to-value ratio, type of product, and various other factors, charged at the time of origination. Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac charge both annual guarantee fees and upfront LLPAs. Most lenders convert LLPAs into the interest rate on the mortgage, which the borrower pays over time. (See also Guarantee fee.)

Loan limit: The maximum allowable mortgage amount under a particular program established by the federal agency or government-sponsored enterprise (GSE), generally according to statutory parameters. For example, the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) sets “conforming loan limits” for the GSEs, the Federal Housing Administration sets “statutory loan limits” for approved lenders, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has “area loan limits,” and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) follows FHFA guidelines.

Loan-to-value (LTV) ratio: A ratio that compares the amount of the first mortgage with the appraised value of the property. It is calculated by dividing the loan amount by the value of the property. The higher the down payment, the lower the LTV.

Low- and moderate-income (LMI) communities: Low-income geographies have a median family income less than 50 percent of the area median income. Moderate-income geographies are those whose median family income is at least 50 percent but less than 80 percent of the area median income. Banks regulated under the Community Reinvestment Act are evaluated on how well they meet the credit needs of low- and moderate-income communities.

Manual underwriting: Instead of using an automated system, a loan officer evaluates a borrower's risk by calculating the various ratios and analyzing other factors. It generally takes longer to process a loan application using manual underwriting, but there is the opportunity for greater flexibility in evaluating the borrower's creditworthiness.

Manufactured home: A structure that is transportable in one or more sections. In traveling mode, it must be 8 feet or more wide, or 40 feet or more long. When the structure is erected on site it must be 320 or more square feet, built on a permanent chassis, and designed to be used as a dwelling (with or without a permanent foundation) when the required utilities are connected. Required utilities include plumbing, heating, air conditioning, and electrical systems contained in the structure. Structures cannot be self-propelled recreational vehicles. The manufactured home must be built in compliance with Federal Manufactured Home Construction and Safety Standards per U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) regulations. Proof of compliance is evidenced by a HUD Data Plate affixed visibly and permanently to the home.

Mortgage insurance: An insurance policy paid for by the borrower with the lender as beneficiary, in which a third party – the insurer – takes some of the loan-default risk. In the event of foreclosure, the insurer pays a set amount to the lender to cover some or all of the outstanding loan balance. Mortgage insurance should be distinguished from hazard insurance, which a homeowner purchases to cover losses from, for example, fire or theft.

Mortgage tax credit certificate (MCC): Certificates issued to qualifying homebuyers that increase the federal tax benefits of owning a home and help low- and moderate-income, first-time homebuyers offset a portion of the amount they owe in mortgage interest by providing a tax credit to recipients to increase housing payment affordability.

Principal, interest, taxes, and insurance (PITI): The four components of a monthly mortgage expense. Principal is the part of the mortgage payment that goes to paying down the balance of the loan, interest is charged by the lender for the privilege of borrowing the money, taxes are to pay property taxes, and insurance includes property insurance and private mortgage insurance (mortgage insurance).

Private mortgage insurance (PMI): An insurance policy that protects lenders against loss if a borrower defaults on a conventional loan. PMI is required for government-sponsored enterprise loans with loan-to-value ratios over 80 percent. Purchasing PMI allows the borrower to make a smaller down payment.

Representations and warranties: Assertions that the seller makes in a purchase and sales agreement about the nature of the loan and which in turn form the basis for due diligence. If lenders are found to violate representations and warranties, secondary market entities may force the lender to repurchase the loan or may refuse insurance or guarantee claims. This is a tool for ensuring loan originators comply with the credit terms required by the secondary market entities.

Secondary mortgage market: Market in which previously issued mortgages and mortgage-backed securities are traded among lenders and investors.

Subordinate lien: A lien other than the first mortgage that will be satisfied in the event of default only after liens that are more senior are paid off. The most common type of subordinate lien is a second mortgage.

Underserved areas: Federal agencies designate defined geographic regions (often specific census tracts) as “underserved” based on median income and minority population levels for purposes of directing federal funds to improve the community or for other purposes, including the assessment of how well Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) regulated lenders are meeting their CRA obligations.

Part II: State Housing Finance Agencies

UPDATE

Revised July 1, 2017

Revisions found at www.fdic.gov/mortgagelending

Because borrower and loan criteria are subject to change and many HFAs add and eliminate programs on a regular basis, the Affordable Mortgage Lending Center provides the most recent information available. - The State Housing Finance Agency Product Matrix (page 4) includes product updates to the individual HFAs;
- Massachusetts Housing Partnership was added to the list of HFAs;
- “Alternative private mortgage insurance options” offered is now included on individual state sheets (see page 30 for general information about these options); and
