Background

Incidents of violence in the workplace, including domestic violence, have caused public and private institutions across the nation, including federal agencies, to assess their vulnerabilities and risk factors and implement workplace violence awareness. Effective anti-violence programs help reduce the number of incidents that occur and mitigate the damage caused when an incident does occur. There is a need for federal agencies, including the FDIC, to foster organizational cultures that do not tolerate violent behaviors and that take reports of such behaviors seriously.

This Directive outlines the requirements and responsibilities of the FDIC in accordance with applicable provisions of the United States Code (USC), Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), Public Laws, Executive Orders (EO), current directives, and other guidance, including the following:

- The Act, 29 USC 661, et. seq., assures safe and healthful working conditions for working men and women;

- The standard at 29 CFR 1960.8(a) requires agencies to “furnish to each employee employment and a place of employment which are free from recognized hazards that are causing or are likely to cause death or serious physical harm.” This standard tasks Executive Branch agencies with the general duty of protecting federal employees from workplace hazards not covered by specific OSHA standards;

- EO 12977 established the Interagency Security Committee (ISC). The ISC’s mandate is to establish security policies and standards to enhance the quality and effectiveness of security in and protection of buildings and facilities in the U.S. occupied by federal employees for nonmilitary activities; and

- The Presidential Memorandum, dated April 18, 2012, Establishing Policies for Addressing Domestic Violence in the Federal Workforce, directed federal agencies to develop policies for addressing the effects of domestic violence on its workforce.
Policy

It is the FDIC’s policy to:

Provide a safe work environment for every employee that is free from violence, threats of violence, intimidation, or other disruptive behavior. Such behavior in the workplace will not be tolerated. Individuals who commit such acts may be removed from the workplace and may be subject to disciplinary action, criminal penalties, or both;

Encourage employees to report all incidents to an immediate supervisor or other management official if he/she is the victim of violence, believes he/she has been threatened with violence, witnesses an act or threat of violence toward anyone else, or has reason to believe he/she or others may be victimized sometime in the future at the workplace or as a result of employment with the FDIC. Employees reporting any such incident will be treated with respect, discretion, and confidentiality (except as may be otherwise required by law); and

Ensure that supervisors and managers will respond immediately to reports of incidents relating to employee safety in order to protect employees from violence, threats of violence, intimidation, or other disruptive behavior.
Responsibilities

A. Assistant Director, Security and Emergency Preparedness Section (SEPS):

1. Serves as the FDIC Senior Agency Official (SAO) and will chair the Management Response Team (MRT) at the FDIC Headquarters (HQ) level.

2. The SAO has overall responsibility to oversee the direction and management of the Workplace Violence Prevention Policy, including related training in conjunction with other FDIC Divisions/Offices.

B. Chief, Security Operations, SEPS

Oversees the development of policies, procedures, and guidelines for implementing the FDIC Workplace Violence Prevention.

C. Division of Administration (DOA), Labor and Employee Relations Section (LERS):

1. Collaborates with SEPS in addressing workplace security-related concerns and provides information regarding workplace flexibilities and resources;

2. Assists in assessing and investigating allegations of workplace violence raised by employees, supervisors or managers, as requested;

3. Provides technical expertise and consultation to help supervisors and managers determine what course of administrative action is most appropriate in specific situations; and

4. Provides primary assistance to the DOA Regional Manager in his/her role as Chair for a MRT.

D. DOA Regional Managers:

1. Establish preventive measures for the safety of employees assigned to the FDIC offices within their geographical areas and promote a safe and secure work environment;

2. Chair MRTs in their respective Regional Office; and

3. Ensure that the incident or activity is reported to LERS prior to holding a MRT, whenever possible.
NOTE: It is recommended that SEPS and LERS participate on Regional MRTs, whenever possible, to ensure consistency across the Corporation in these types of security concerns.

E. Legal Division, Labor, Employment, and Administration Section (LEAS):

1. Serves on and provide legal support to MRTs; and

2. Independently assists the respective Divisions/Offices represented on a MRT, as is necessary and appropriate.

F. Division/Office Directors

Ensure the requirements of this Directive are adhered to in their respective organizations.

G. Supervisors and Managers:

1. Promote a safe and secure work environment for employees, visitors, and/or contractors under their supervision;

2. Demonstrate and maintain a high standard of respect for all employees and hold their subordinates accountable for comparable conduct;

3. Not tolerate disruptive, threatening, or violent behavior in the workplace;

4. Monitor, assess, and respond to employee complaints of disruptive, threatening, or violent behavior in the workplace;

5. Work directly with LERS/LEAS in order to perform each of the above responsibilities. Thereafter, under LERS/LEAS guidance and direction, report any continuing disruptive, threatening, or violent behavior to a member of their designated MRT;

6. In instances of imminent danger, immediately contact the appropriate law enforcement authorities and notify the Assistant Director, SEPS, or the DOA Regional Manager, as applicable;

7. Attend workplace security training provided by the FDIC and/or other training opportunities in the area of workplace violence prevention; and

8. For any questionable conduct or behavior that does not rise to the level of disruptive, threatening, or violent behavior, encourage employees or peers to obtain assistance, if necessary, through the FDIC’s WorkLife Program.
H. FDIC Employees or Contractors:

1. Respect other employees, contractors, and visitors and refrain from behavior that could be perceived as threatening or dangerous;

2. Become familiar with this Directive and participate in applicable periodic training and refresher courses, when offered; and

3. Immediately report disruptive, threatening, or violent acts directed towards themselves or others to any of the following:
   a. Immediate supervisor or manager;
   b. SEPS (in HQ);
   c. LERS (in Regional and Field Offices);
   d. Facilities Managers (in Regional Offices); or
   e. Appropriate law enforcement authorities or applicable first responders.

NOTE: Regional Offices should report incidents to SEPS for tracking and coordination.

I. MRTs:

4. Assess the threat and develop a planned response. MRT members should engage managers and supervisors in efforts to reduce the potential for incidents of violence and the escalation of lower level incidents and unwanted behavior;

5. Have one representative, at a minimum, from the following:
   a. SEPS;
   b. DOA Regional Manager;
   c. LERS; and
   d. LEAS

6. Administer and maintain established workplace violence policies, procedures, and guidelines;
7. Promptly assess reports of threats of harmful acts which occur in FDIC facilities, document the MRT recommended action, and forward a copy of the recommendation to SEPS;

8. Request assistance from the WorkLife Program, when appropriate;

9. Promptly inform the appropriate law enforcement authorities of any specific threats or situations which could imminently escalate into an act of workplace violence;

11. Ensure, to the best of their ability, that all reasonable actions are taken to protect employees in threatening situations or emergencies; and

12. Provide supervisors and managers with the necessary tools to effectively engage in workplace violence protection and response.
