Highlights

- The data collected through these templates will be used to assess the reasonableness of the covered bank's stress-test results and provide forward-looking information to the FDIC regarding a covered bank's capital adequacy.
- The FDIC coordinated with the Federal Reserve Board and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency in the development of these templates.
- All covered institutions should submit completed reports electronically through Reporting Central, the Federal Reserve Board's electronic reports submission application. Many institutions now use Reporting Central to electronically submit other regulatory reports.
- Covered banks with consolidated assets between $10 billion and $50 billion must report capital and risk-weighted assets for the entire nine-quarter planning horizon using the regulatory capital rules applicable on the "as of" date of each report for the initial submission.
