Highlights:

- Regional coalitions are voluntary organizations formed to facilitate the recovery of the financial services sector following a natural or man-made disaster.
- The coalitions are open to all members of the financial services sector.
- The brochure outlines the benefits of joining a regional coalition, including the ability to network with state and local emergency management agencies as well as strategic partners within other critical sectors.
- The brochure includes a list of existing regional coalitions and provides contact information for those interested in learning more about them, joining one or starting one, in their area.
