Highlights:

- The FHFA statement may impact institutions' ability to sell residential mortgage loans to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.
- The FHFA statement advises that certain energy retrofit programs use the municipal tax assessment process to ensure repayment, which results in a priority lien status that supersedes the position of existing properly recorded lien holders.
- The FHFA statement indicates that underwriting and consumer protection standards, as well as energy retrofit standards, are being developed for these programs to ensure borrowers have the ability to repay the new monies in addition to existing obligations and consumers receive appropriate truth-in-lending disclosures. The FDIC shares the FHFA's concerns about the lack of appropriate underwriting and consumer protection standards.
- The FHFA statement directs Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the Federal Home Loan Banks to take specific actions that protect their operations.
- The FHFA's statement is available at www.fhfa.gov/webfiles/15884/PACESTMT7610.pdf.
