Highlights:

- On July 28, 2006, the FDIC's Board of Directors imposed a six-month moratorium on industrial loan company (ILC) deposit insurance applications and change of control notices. The moratorium will expire on January 31, 2007.
- On August 23, 2006, a Notice and Request for Comment was published in the Federal Register, which includes 12 specific questions on ILCs. The questions cover a variety of topics, including the current legal and business framework of ILCs and the possible benefits, risks and supervisory issues associated with ILCs.
- The FDIC believes that public participation will provide valuable insight into the issues presented by recent trends and changes in the ILC industry.
- Comments may be submitted through the FDIC's Web site at <http://www.fdic.gov/regulations/laws/federal/propose.html>. Comments may also be submitted through e-mail, U.S. Postal Service, or hand-delivery as detailed in the attached Federal Register citation.
- All comments received on or before October 10, 2006, will be posted without change, including any personal information provided, to the above Web site.
