

From: shadycat
Sent: Thursday, August 17, 2006 7:53 PM
To: Comments
Subject: Walmart application

To most of us this whole thing smacks of a political battle against Walmart. I have a Old Navy credit card and a Penny's credit card and a Dillard's credit card and a Sears credit card. I only use them for purchases at their own stores but since I do shop at Walmart then why should they be denied the right to issue a card as their competitors do? Either let everybody that wants to open such an account or else rescind all the other corporations that have them. Fairness is crucial. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. Either sauce for all or no sauce for any. Incidentally neither I nor anybody in my family has or is working for Walmart nor do any of have any attachment other than shopping there. Thanks for listening to a citizen opinion.

Powell Trotter
Hendersonville, Tn 37075