To Whom It May Concern:

Please reconsider the idea of taxing the small community banks as a way to cover the sins of the large institutions that have created the problem. Our bank is very stable right now and we are weathering the economic crisis in our area along with all our friends and neighbors as best we can. We intend to do all we can to support our customers and communities but when large sums of money are pulled from our local institutions to correct the problems created by the big money center banks it ends up diminishing what we can do in our own local economies. Thanks for taking the time to listen to my point of view.
