SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, the FDIC has conducted a review of its Privacy Act systems of records and has determined that it needs to introduce one new system of records, and to revise and republish a compilation of its thirty existing system of records notices. The FDIC previously published one or more of its existing system of records notices at various times. These publications may be viewed at the FDIC’s Privacy Act Web page: http://www.fdic.gov/about/privacy/.

The FDIC proposes to add one new system of records notice to cover information maintained by a new data technology system that will collect, process, and store personal information. The new system of records is designated as FDIC–30–64–0031 (Online Ordering Request Records). This system of records will be used to process online requests by individuals for certain FDIC products, publications, and materials such as brochures, pamphlets, CD–ROMs, and subscriptions to newsletters. Information proposed to be collected and stored includes the name of the requesting individual, business or organization affiliations, addresses, phone numbers, e-mail addresses, order history, payment information, identity verification information, fulfillment information, and other contact information provided by the requester. FDIC employees will administer the system, along with FDIC contractors and subcontractors who will assist the FDIC in managing the information collection. The information will be collected by entering information on an online form linked from the FDIC web site that populates the contractor’s electronic information system on the contractor’s web site. Requesters that call, mail or make requests by other means will be guided to the web site to complete the online request or allow FDIC staff to enter the information they provide. Once collected, the information will be maintained on the contractor’s electronic system in a secured environment. The collection of the information is required in order to obtain the requested information. The FDIC also proposes to revise and republish a compilation of its thirty existing system of records notices. The systems revisions are minor corrective and administrative changes that do not meet the threshold criteria established by the Office of Management and Budget for either a new or altered system of records.
