Dear Sir or Madame,

I am General Barrye L. Price and I serve as the Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America (CADCA)—an evidence-based, multi-sector, world-wide organization which teaches upstream primary-prevention solutions to drug, alcohol, and tobacco addiction and abuse. Our organization is in the process of transferring all of our banking needs to SunTrust Bank, but our rationale for transferring banks may prove surprising to you. We're moving because of an engagement with one of SunTrust's great ambassadors, Ms. Muriel Garr.

I met with Ms. Garr in the Fall of 2018 to speak about social action and outreach—based on CADCA's portfolio--and from my perspective it was going to be a one-sided meeting with me sharing with Ms. Garr about our community efforts. To my surprise, after I shared what CADCA was doing within communities all over the world, Ms. Garr shared with me several of the community initiatives that SunTrust is supporting and suggested that CADCA might just consider a bank with a similar social action focus. I came back to the office on that very day and began the research process in earnest and found SunTrust to be precisely what was advocated by Ms. Garr. Based on that engagement, CADCA is in the process of transferring all of our banking requirements to SunTrust.

I believe that ambassadors like Ms. Garr will make the merger of two great banks a match of the ages. I support this merger wholeheartedly.

Respectfully,

Barrye L. Price, Ph.D.
Major General, US Army Retired
EVP and COO, CADCA
