

What is the Directors' Resource Center?

The Directors' Resource Center, available on the FDIC's website, provides resources for directors and officers of FDIC-insured institutions. The content focuses on guidance and other information relating to current banking issues.

*W*hen I met with bankers throughout the country...as part of our Community Banking Initiatives, we had frank discussions on issues facing the industry and heard many constructive suggestions for actions the FDIC could take that would be helpful to bankers. One of the most common suggestions was for more technical assistance."

Martin J. Gruenberg
