RIN 3064-AF93
FDIC Proposal--Special Bank Assessments

Public Comment

The FDIC should not be picking winning banks, namely, those that do not pay the special assessment, over the losing banks, those that will pay the special assessment.

A safe and sound banking system is critical to our financial system.

We need to insure that banks, both large and small, operate in a prudent and responsible financial manner.

The special assessment should be formulated so that all banks contribute to the FDIC. Any other formula defies equity and common sense.
